

AMA Journal of Ethics®

February 2018

Volume 20, Number 2: 113-208

Peer-Reviewed CME Articles

Roles of Graphic Pathographies in Clinical Training 115
Megan Yu

Representations of Patients' Experiences of Autonomy in Graphic Medicine 122
Mark Tschaepe

Graphic Medicine and Health Care Ethics

From the Editor

Comics and the Ethics of Representation in Health Care 130
Taylor Olmsted and Michael J. Green

Ethics Cases

Are Comic Books Appropriate Health Education Formats to Offer Adult Patients? 134
Commentary by Gary Ashwal and Alex Thomas

Go Home, Med Student: Comics as Visual Media for Students'
Traumatic Medical Education Experiences 141
Commentary by Jeffrey Monk

How Should a Stigmatized Diagnosis Be Conveyed? How What Went Wrong Is Represented in *Swallow Me Whole 148
Commentary by Jared Gardner

Podcast

Telling Stories of Illness with Comic Art:
An Interview with Brian Fies and Phoebe Potts

Medical Education

Teaching Confidentiality through Comics at One Spanish
Medical School 154
Artwork by Mónica Lalanda and caption by Mónica

Lalanda, Rogelio Altisent, and Maria Teresa
Delgado-Marroquín

Graphic Pathographies and the Ethical Practice of Person-Centered Medicine	158
Kimberly R. Myers and Michael D. F. Goldenberg

Medicine and Society

Parasites! Graphic Exploration of Tropical Disease Drug Development	167
Susan M. Squier

How Should We Judge the Ethics of Illustrations in Graphic Medicine Novels?	176
Linda S. Raphael and Madden Rowell

History of Medicine

Of Cornopleezeepi and Party Poopers: A Brief History of Physicians in Comics	188
Carol Tilley

Images of Healing and Learning

The Crisis in Our Neighborhood	195
Artwork and caption by Jason Bitterman

Reviewing Systems	197
Artwork and caption by Hannah R. Abrams

Medical Narrative

Representing AIDS in Comics	199
MK Czerwicz

About the Contributors	206
-------------------------------	------------